Dr. Marshall Says Arsenic in Mrs. Brouwer's Brain Could Not Have Been Given to Her Alive.

Special to The Evening World.) TOMS RIVER, Oct. 13. Dr. John Marshall, the Philadelphia expert, was again on the stand in Brouwer trial to-day, to prove that the arsenic found in Mrs. Brouwer's body was introduced in the embalming

The witness was asked concerning the amount of arsenic found in Mrs. Brouwer's brain, and said that it was proportionately great.

"What would the amount of Arsenic in the brain indicate to you?" "That the poison entered the body after death in embalming."

"If it were administered during life an almost infinitely small amount would reach the brain. If administered after death the fluid being injected into the bracial artery would carry the poison direct to the

Q. Would a milk and whiskey enemal be a good food for promaines? A. Very good. There is hardly any better, except pertonized milk.

Mr. Johnston called for the milk punch and strychnine which Dr. Marshall mixed yesterday, and Sheriff Jeffery, who said that was locked in the safe, went out and soon brought in the mixture in a gold-fish bowl and placed it on the Judge's desk.

"I had a woman come to me," he said, "who said that Dr. Brouwer had falled to remedy a personal matter which she put up to him and because of-this she wanted me to permit his convertion.

The session of court to-day will be very brief. Counsel for the prosecution and the defense requested Judge Hendrickson not to hold court to-day, but he informed them that he understood one of the jurors was sick, and that the case should be completed as speedily as possible. He said that the court would adjourn at 12 o'clock. It is not likely that the case will be finished until Tuesday.
